INTRODUCTION

As an important part of its microfilming program the Archives Division of the Legislative Library of Saskatchewan in 1948 began to film Saskatchewan newspapers, in particular the weekly papers. The chief categories of papers included in the project were (1) papers established before 1905 not being filmed by the Canadian Library Association and (2) newspaper files of the Legislative Library beginning in 1943. By 1950 all of the Saskatchewan weeklies published 1943-1947 had been completed and each year since then, files for one year have been copied and work on this aspect of the program will be continued. The Golden Jubilee editions of weekly and daily newspapers, 1955, were filmed as a unit.

The basic collection of the newspaper microfilm file is in the Archives Division of the Legislative Library, Regina, all the master negatives being deposited there as well as positive films purchased to complete a run. In a few cases where the Provincial Archives has both negative and positive copies of a paper, the positives are held by the Archives Office in Saskatoon. Eventually it is intended to have on deposit in the Saskatoon Office, as a minimum, positive copies of papers published in Saskatoon, Regina, Moose Jaw, Prince Albert and Battleford. In addition to Saskatchewan newspapers the Archives has on microfilm a few papers published elsewhere. These have been included because of their importance in relation to the history and development of the Saskatchewan area.

This catalogue, therefore, covers the microfilm holdings, as of January 1958, of the Archives Division of the Legislative Library, Regina, and the positive prints on deposit in the Archives Office, Saskatoon. Except when special mention is made of Archives Office holdings it may be assumed that the entries refer to files in the possession of the Archives Division, Regina. Symbols for these two agencies are those established by the Microfilming Clearing House of the Library of Congress and by the National Library, Ottawa—CaSSA for Saskatoon and CaSRA for Regina.

At the present time, microfilming of the Saskatchewan weeklies has been completed for 1954. Newspapers in the Legislative Library files which began publication since then also are included in the list. While actually not yet on microfilm, they will be, as part of a continuing microfilming project.

Entry is under the latest place of publication save that when a paper was published for many years in one place but in the last few months of its existence in another, it is entered under the former. The customary form is used to indicate open entry (i.e. 1943-).

The word "the" in titles has been discarded—always in the entry and generally in the notes.

Statements concerning variations in title and place of publication, and data about the history of individual newspapers cover, with a very few exceptions, only the periods for which we have the papers on microfilm.

CHRISTINE MACDONALD.
